

Hoosier Feeder Welcomes You to Their Feeder University:

Your online process automation and feeding system educator

The world of process automation is expansive, yet seemingly few people truly know the depth of what goes into making the products our society buys and uses every day. It takes an incredible network of manufacturers and builders to automate and optimize even the simplest processes. Feed-U aims to collect, simplify, and present insights into the incredible world of process automation.

Click on the link below to look “behind the curtain” and learn the finer things about feeding systems and the equipment it takes to manufacture the things we use and see every day.

Click here to get started

You will want to check back from time to time as new content is added. Visit Hoosier's website or check out their YouTube page to see more videos of Hoosier's equipment.